

A perfect day for a marathon

Many marathon runners and walkers are convinced that it's true. The one day of the year you can bet on to be beautiful in Portland is the Portland Marathon. Many marathoners are also grateful that that's so.

This year's 28th Portland Marathon, on Oct. 3, was as beautiful as any in memory. For the runners and walkers, for the volunteers and workers, and for the cheerers and watchers.

Several BPA folks again ran or walked the marathon course. Others took part in the mayor's run. And many people again volunteered as workers to help make the event a success.

Captain Don Davey reported that 43 BPA employees and helpers turned out to staff the 21st mile aid station. Spouses, children, other relatives and friends joined more than two dozen BPA folks at the award winning station that BPA and the Portland Kiwanis Club staff each year. ◀

Marathon smiles – Workers, walkers and runners (well some runners) alike wore smiles in this year's Portland Marathon. The great marathon weather brought out the best in people – in more ways than one. Roving photographers caught the action around BPA's 21st mile aid station. How many of the dozens of BPA and former BPA folks, doing the Marathon and volunteering, can you see in these snapshots?
